AUTUMN DAYS

—Karen Marie Peterson

There's a hush o'er the wide,
solemn landscape
And a sweetness
that none can express,
As the trees with their strong arms uplifted Seem to pause
every leaflet to bless.

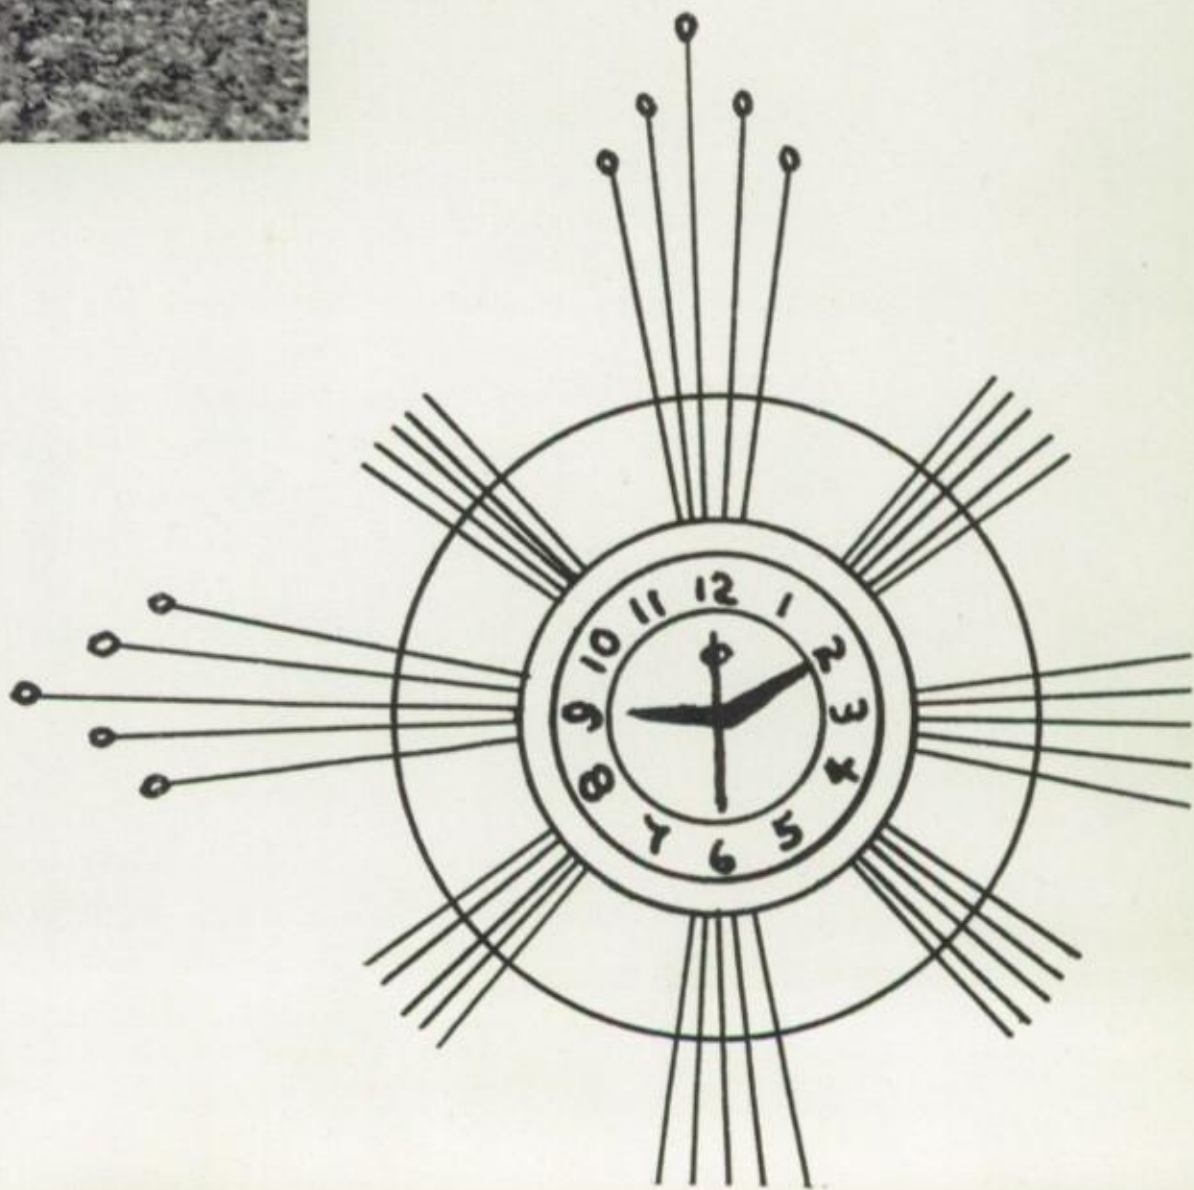

They have gathered
the glories of sunsets
And the wonderful tints of each bloom
And like proud knights returning high honors,
They scatter their gifts
on earth's tomb.

All around us there
broods an enchantment
And a silence so fit
for our dreams,
As all nature is gladly renouncing
The cares of the world—
so it seems.

Then we turn to the glow of the fireside, Where new hopes and
new dreams ever crowd,
To weave into life's work some glory—
Like the rose-tinted leaves of earth's shroud.

Members of the Graduating Class of 1962,

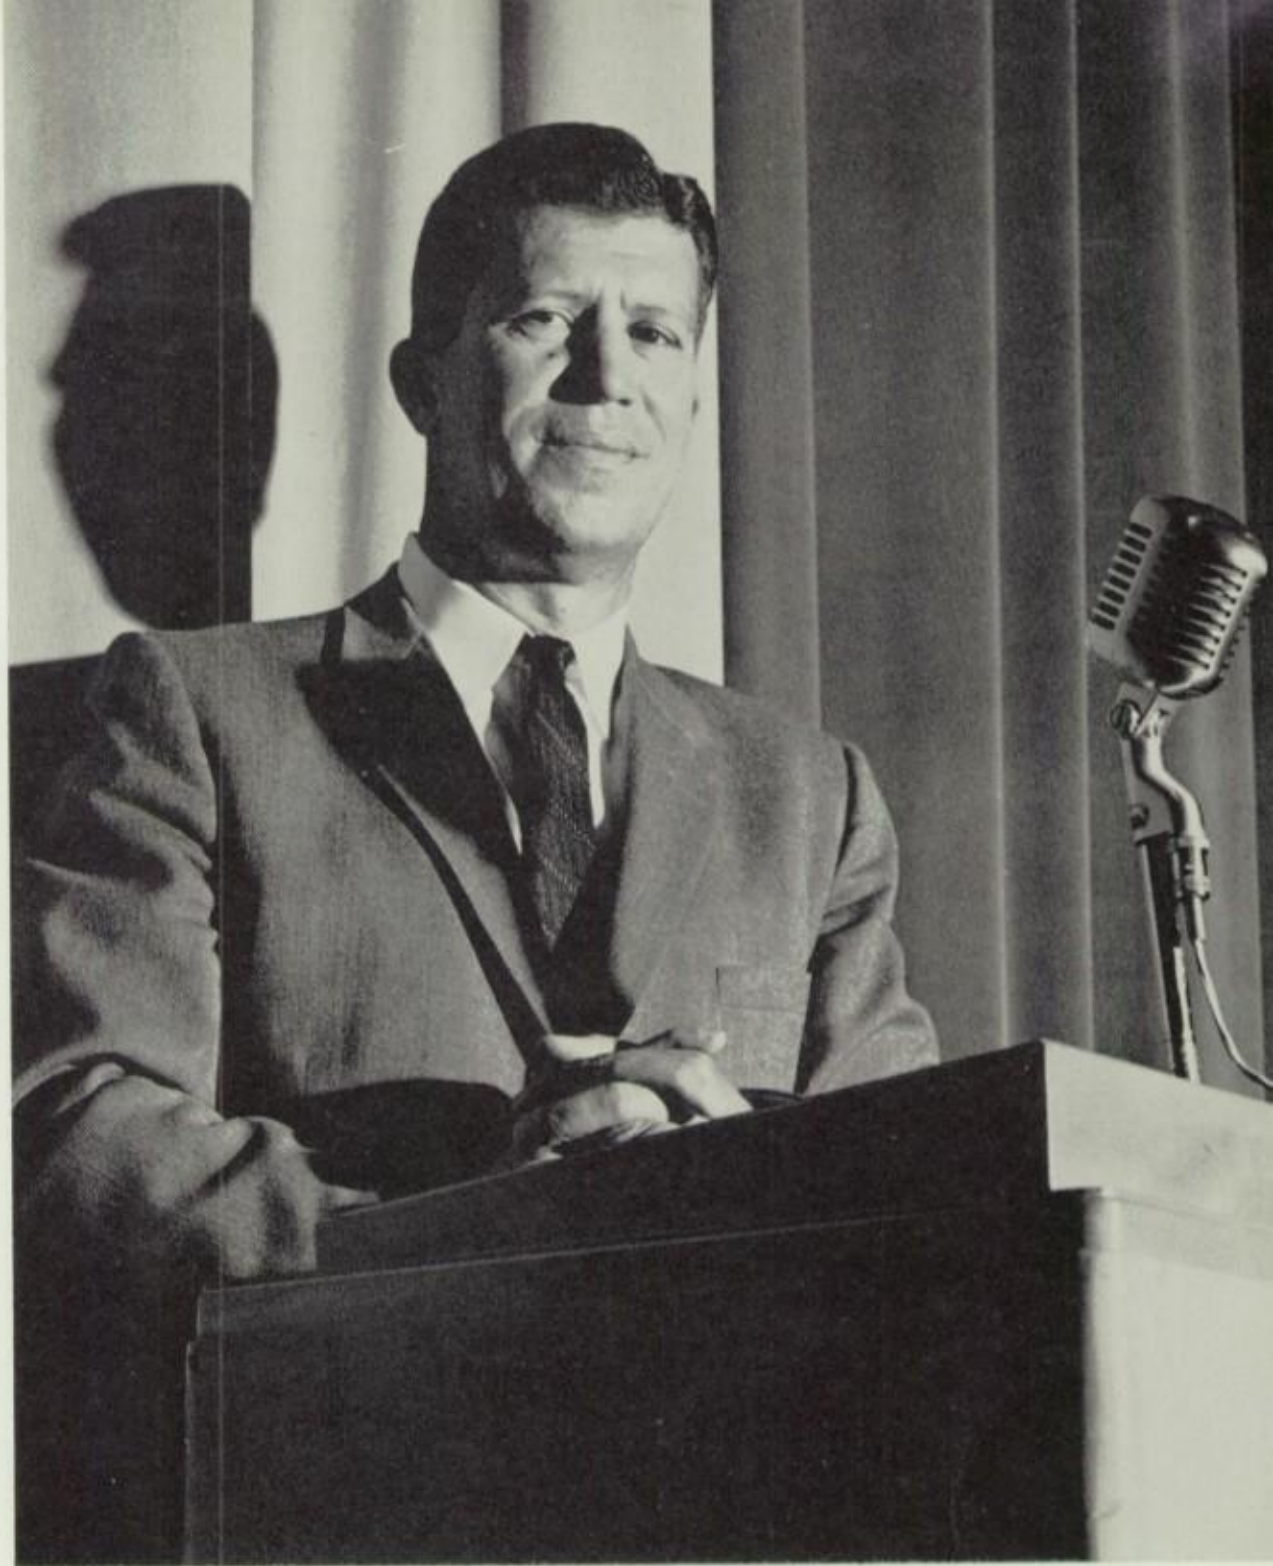

The other day I read a statement that I think is applicable and of value to any graduating class. That statement is, "Successful living depends on making adjustments." As you plan for your future and as you carve out of your experiences your life work and life activities, I hope that you will be able to adjust yourselves to the changing circumstances which you will encounter. If you need further training to prepare you for a career, I trust you resolve to obtain the preparation you need. I hope you prove to be worthy citizens, assuming the responsibilities and duties of our government.

Remember this, and also be persuaded of its truth—the future is not in the hands of fate, but in ourselves.

I want to express to you my congratulations, and to wish for each one of you a happy and prosperous future.

Kenneth V. Hiestand
Superintendent of Schools

*Our Principal
Joseph P. Barrick*

Dear Seniors,

There is always a tomorrow! You have been given the opportunity to attend high school. This opportunity comes but once. You have outgrown your high school days and now pass on to other work.

Time has a way of holding for you not one opportunity, but many; not only one day, but many tomorrows. As you go forth from high school, you go forth into the days ahead, into tomorrow, to do what there is for you to do—what you can do better than anyone else.

Perhaps Edgar A. Guest expressed my thoughts very beautifully in the following verse:

"For man is a dreamer ever. He glimpses the hills afar
And plans for the joys off yonder where all his tomorrows are;
When trials and cares beset him; in the distance he still can see A hint of the future splendid, and the glory that is to be."

May your tomorrows be ever pleasant and profitable!

Sweethearts of B.H.S.

The Brookfield Senior High chose the queen and her four attendants to reign over the Brookfield-Girard football game and homecoming dance, October 20 and 21, 1961.

During half time, Mary Sivulich was crowned homecoming queen of 1961. Her beauty was enhanced by her four lovely attendants, Janet Cratsley, Rose Marie Miller, Joan King, and Barbara Ray.

The night was clear with a star-studded sky, perfect for the occasion. It was an event that will be cherished by all who attended.

WINTERTIME, WINTERTIME

—William Kushner

Sunset early,
sunrise late.
Show Winter is here,
to keep her date.
The ground so hard,
trees so bare.
Yes, Winter's here,
says that cold, cold air.
Howling winds,
leaves so brown.
Scattered over the cold dark ground.
Sunshine now
is gone, my dear.
It's Wintertime, Wintertime,
Wintertime is here.

Oh, wind so fierce,
wind so cold.
Wintertime, Wintertime,
you are so bold.
Now flakes of snow
fall from the sky.
Yes, flakes of snow
from the heavens high.
Land of white
and cloudy sky.
So very cold,
but I shan't cry
Ice is the water
that once was warm.
Winter, you're here,
so let it storm.

THE AWAKENING OF SPRING

—William Kushner

Begone, oh wind,
and bitter cold.
Now Winter will die,
she's getting old.
The snow will melt
and flow away.
And birds will return
with songs so gay.

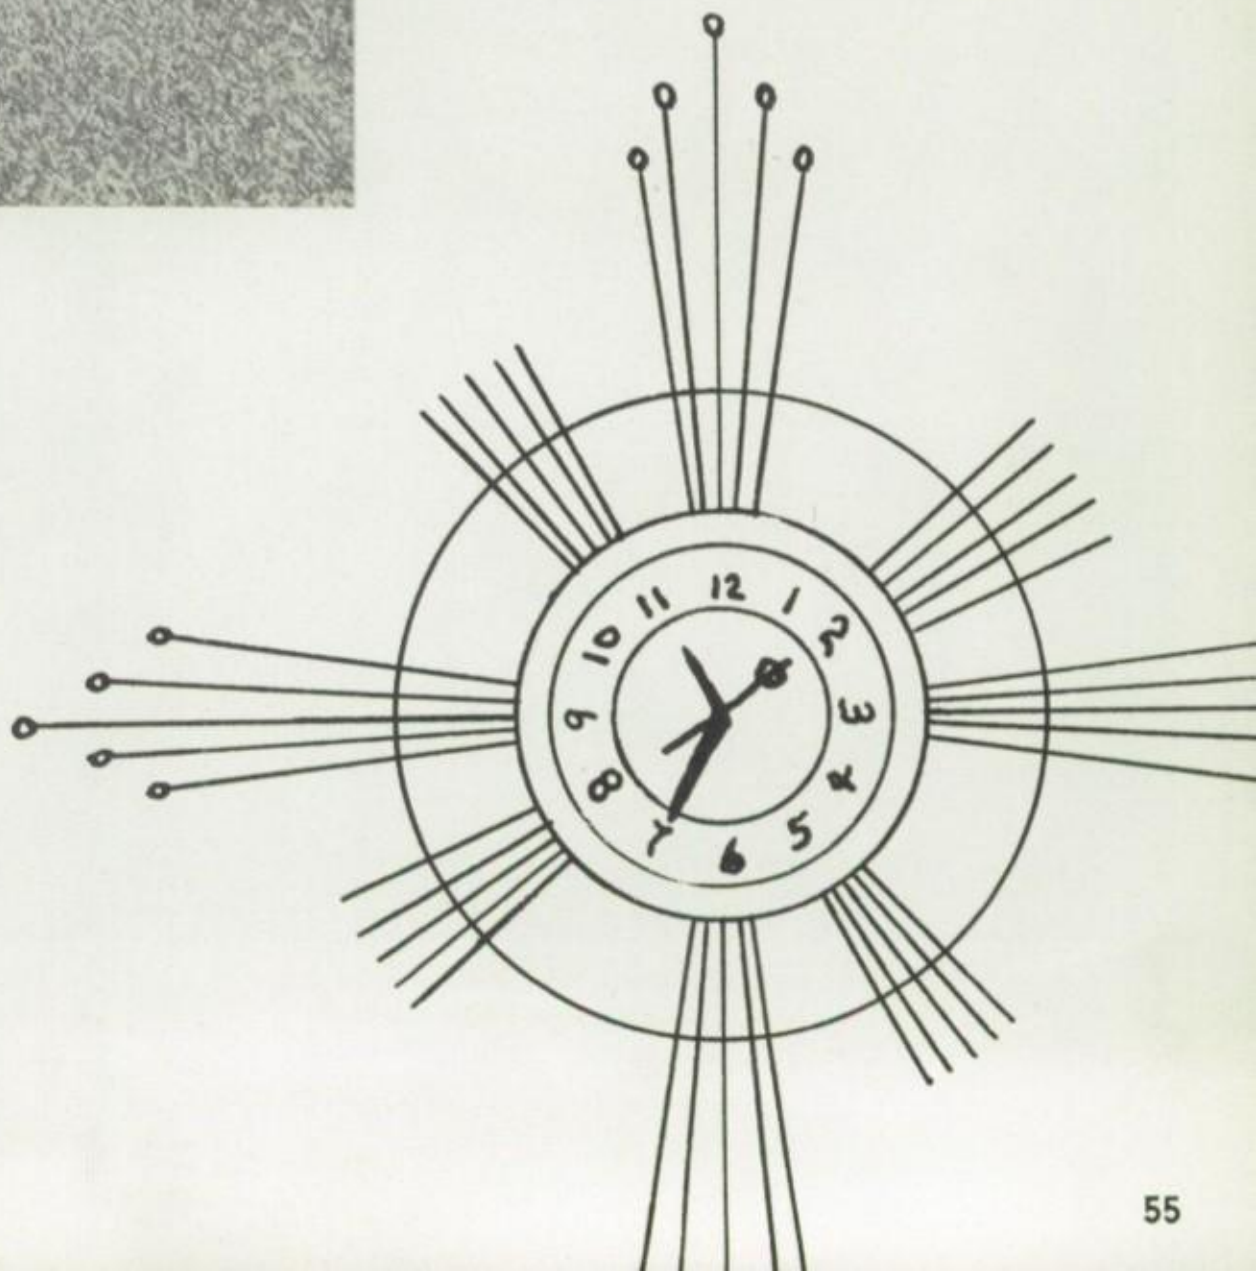

Trees again
will start to grow
And pretty Miss March
will start to blow.
Winds so brisk,
but not with chill,
Winds so brisk,
how clean the feel.

Shine, oh sun,
with beams so warm.
Spotted sky
with clouds of storm.
Flashes in the heavens,
then rains will fall.
But fear not, oh lad,
'tis Spring that's all.

Quick as it comes,
quick it will go.
Dried by the sun,
and its warm soft glow.
Kissed by the sun,
washed by the rain,
Now beauty in green
is our terrain.

SONG OF SUMMER

—William Kushner

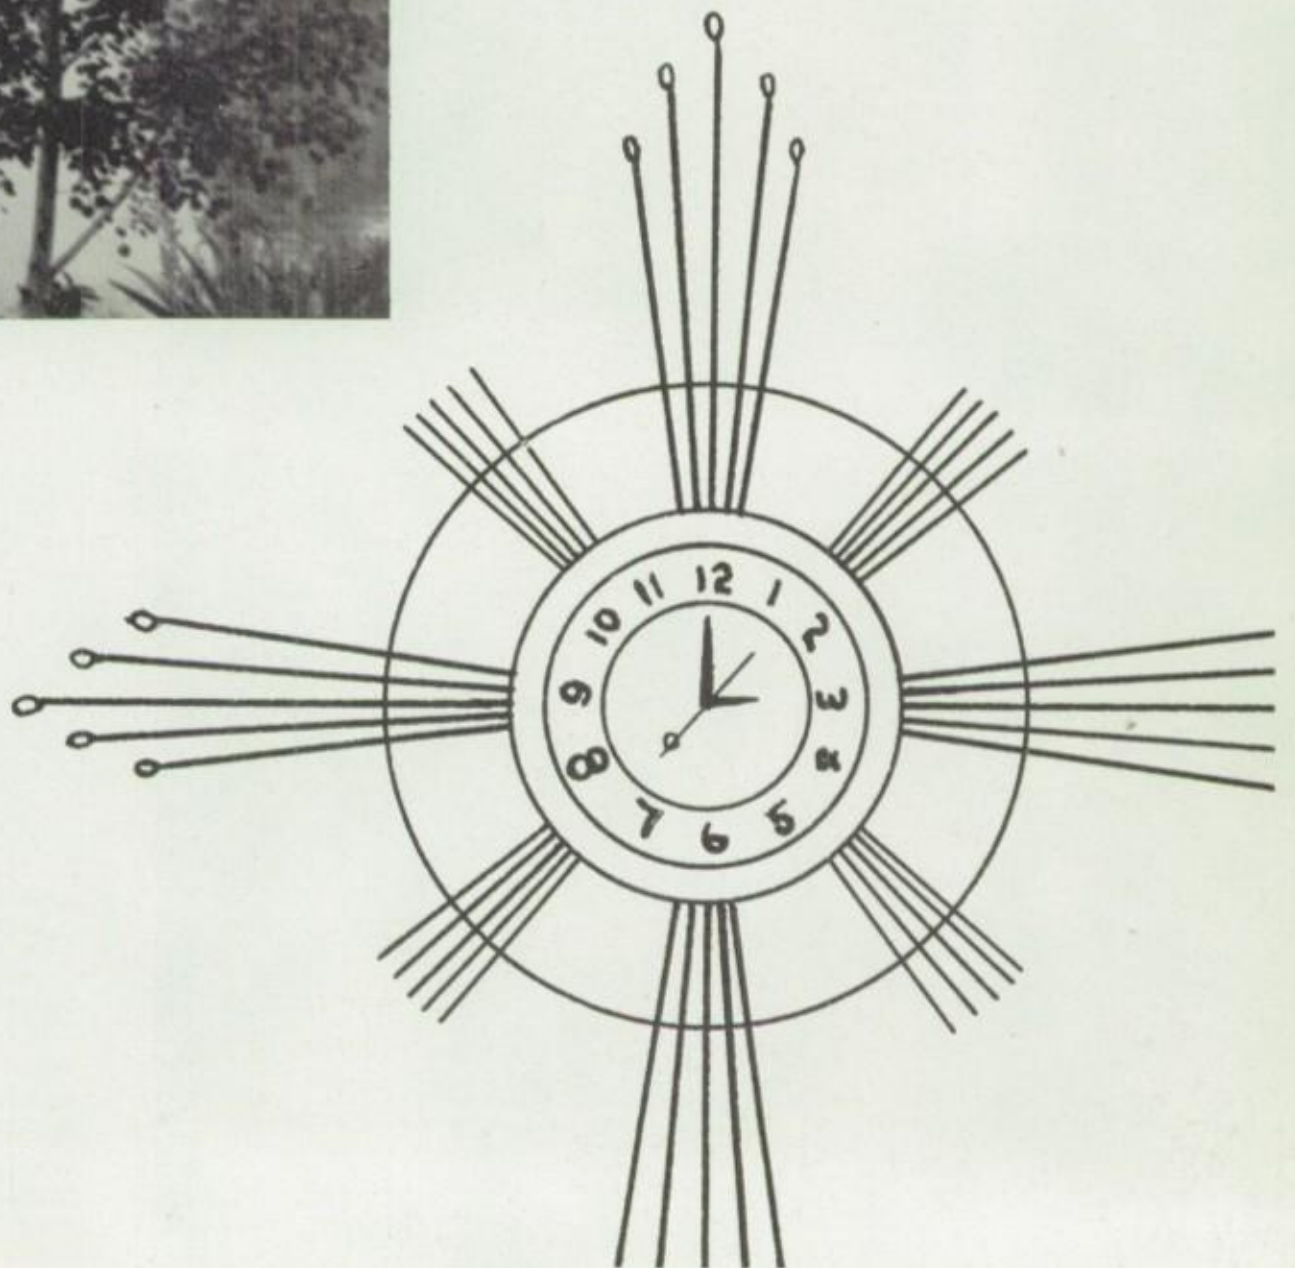

A quiet breeze at night,
a warm sunny day,
Snow capped mountains,
with streams so gay.
The trees straight and green,
the sky above so blue,
The still of the mornings,
kissed by the dew.

A day may grow so hot,
a day may grow so bright,
Only to be cooled,
by the beauty of the night.
It's a time for fun,
and a time for love,
Say the twinkling stars,
so high above.

Hotter and hotter
grows the hot, hot day,
Now I wish for Winter
and her funny way.
Locked in my memory,
with dust all around,
Is the thought of the time,
when white was the ground.

But when I remember,
when winter was here,
How I hoped and I wished that summer was near.
With the heat so hot,
a while she'll stay,
So I'll just dream and think of a cold winter day.

Around Our Schools

Mr. Bennett's ninth grade science class listens attentively while he explains a complicated experiment.

The junior high library, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Brocken, provides a quiet atmosphere for study.

The senior high library, directed by Mrs. Nathalie Irwin, observes the sesquicentennial of the Civil War with a special exhibit for the annual T.E.A. Workshop.
